Security Chimneys has established a strong presence as one of the most trusted suppliers of quality chimneys in North America. Our dedication to total quality lives in the research and development of new products and services for the residential and commercial markets. For over 50 years as a leading innovator, we have delivered quality products in accordance with UL and ULC standards.

Throughout our history, our product offerings have evolved. We've strengthened our focus on designing, building and marketing a complete line of chimneys for residential and commercial applications that have set the standard that other manufacturers have often imitated, but never equaled.

Ultimately, we believe in fostering quality relationships in order to nurture the growth and success of our brand. Our emphasis on providing superior sales support, customer service, and products distinguishes us from our competitors; making us a household name in venting.
